

The within-element variance against cell size: a symmetry noise floor (grey) and genuine site differences (red)

